Hi Everyone,

Happy Holidays to all. Hope you have a wonderful holiday season.

Thought we'd fill you in on Boogie Til The Cows Come Home 24th or so annual workshop on March 21, 2020. We'd like to make sure all folks who plan to come can be registered. Currently the workshop is 1/2 full.

This is a one day line dance workshop full of fun and energy. Learn a few dances, meet new people, do some social line dancing, have dinner, watch entertainment, and dance some more if desired. The purpose of the workshop is a day of line dance fun with friends. There aren't many workshops in the North State, so this is a good opportunity. And for anyone coming up early on the 20th, there is an all request Friday night dance at the Veterans Hall with the wonderful John Trentacosti as your DJ.

To have all the information about the event please visit our website, <https://www.michaelandmichele.com/boogie-info>, where you can get registrations forms, register online, find the motel information and see what this years theme is all about. Epic and not so epic movies of the past.

Note: Best Western Plus is the host hotel. At the moment they are full but Yolanda (motel manager) asked that folks still needing rooms call at the end of December and ask for her. The motel info on the Boogie home page has info on alternatives if needed.

There are lots of great table names coming in, like Cow The West Was Won and High Mooooooon to name a couple:-) Looks like things are already shaping up.

Need a registration form? You can find one on the Boogie home page. Just click on it and download. Or there is online registration if you like.

Some on this list are already signed up and we look forward to seeing you. Others have moved out of the area and so we just want to say Happy Holidays. And still others may not have gotten the information or have a lot on their plate with the holidays. So come if you can, enjoy the holiday season where ever you might be and dance if you have the chance.

Thanks, and hope to see you soon.

Michele and Michael
